REPORT OF THE SELECTMEN

For the Year Ending Feb. 15, 1909.

To the Citizens of Hillsborough:

The time is again at hand for the officers of the people to render an account of their stewardship. It has been found necessary for some of the accounts to overrun the appropriations. The sidewalk on the long bridge had to be relaid at an expense of nearly two hundred dollars and about this sum has been expended on sidewalks more than was appropriated. The forest fires cost the town several hundred dollars. The heavy rains during the fall of 1907 left the roads in such a condition that the regular road money was insufficient to place them in a satisfactory condition. The sum total of the outstanding notes against the town has been reduced $1835 and the debt has been reduced $583.81. We trust that by a reference to the different departments you will obtain the information necessary for a correct understanding of the disbursements.

Through the generosity of George W. Lincoln those doing business with the town have the free use of a telephone at the town office.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

To the Selectmen and Citizens of the Town of Hillsborough, N. H.:

The Board of Health begs leave to report that, with the exception of two cases of diphtheria and a few cases of measles of mild type, this community has been free from infectious or contagious diseases, a fact very gratifying to your Board. There have also been fewer calls for the abatement of nuisances than usual.

The general sanitary condition of the town is satisfactory, the water supply well cared for and we hope for a continuance of the present favorable conditions.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN GOODELL,

WARREN P. GRIMES,

LEON E. ANNIS,

Board of Health.

During the summer of 1908, the commissioners relaid 2000 feet of six and eight inch pipe (720 feet of 6 inch and 1280 feet of 8 inch) replacing the old cement lined with cast iron pipe of suitable strength.

The entire cost of this work was $2000.43, of which $1474 was charged to "income account" and $526.43 to "Excess renewal." This latter amount is added to the cost of the works and shows in "Construction account" above.

The reconstruction of the supply pipe line from Loon Lake to the intermediate reservoir on Bible Hill now under way is in accordance with recommendations made by Mr. A. W. Forbes, C. E., of Boston.

It is the plan of the commissioners to replace another section of this line the coming season and to pay for same from water funds in the treasury.

The Commissioners hope to complete the relaying this line of pipe in two or three seasons more.

Report of School Board.

To the Citizens of Hillsborough:

The following is presented as the annual report of the Town School Department:

The town maintained nine schools in the spring, eight in the fall and eight in the winter.

The supplies for the year have been ordered, received and paid for from this year's money and there are no outstanding bills for the same. Inventories have been taken several times during the year. Supplies and books not in use are stored in School House No. 4.

The only change in text books has been the adoption of "Lessons in English" by Scott & Southworth. The text books now in use are Heath Readers, Cyr's Readers, Ward Readers, McMaster's Histories, Lessons in English by Scott & Southworth, Milne Arithmetics (old), Hall's Physiologies and the Whitehouse Educational System of Practical Writing.

In the month of September, as required by law, a census of the children of school age was taken in the town district. There were reported 61 boys, 55 girls, a total of 116 children between the ages of five and sixteen years. Of these 70 were born in Hillsboro, 38 were born elsewhere in the United States, 3 were born in foreign countries and of the others the places of birth were unknown.

The State Registers are correctly filled to date.

In conclusion we urge all citizens to familiarize themselves with the State Program of Studies and quote the following from the Program, Page 7:

"Nobody can claim to be all-wise, but it is better to seize upon and follow an opinion which commends itself as sound to those appointed in authority than to run a race of opinions with all the inevitable shifting involved."

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

Members of School Board:

Following is a brief report of the work of the Superintendent for the fall and winter terms of school together with comments and suggestions:

During last spring term, by an arrangement made with the members of the supervisory district as it then existed, I had the opportunity of visiting the schools and getting acquainted with the work. On the fifteenth of July last the new supervisory district came into existence, and since then I have given one-sixth of my time to your schools in accordance with instructions.

The pressing need for the work of a superintendent, especially in a new district, is in the school room, noting the work there done, the attendance, discipline and methods of instruction, and the surroundings and equipment for the work.

Accordingly I have used all my time during school hours in visiting the schools and advising with the teachers as to work to be done, ways of improving instruction, and books to be used. The formal teachers' meetings and office work of the city superintendent have very little practical value for us at present.

Believing that evolution is better than revolution I have taken the work where I have found it and have suggested no radical changes. The newer methods of work, while excellent in themselves if properly handled, may be positively injurious if not properly understood. I have therefore encouraged the teachers to adopt and apply those elements of the new in their own way. They have done this faithfully and in some cases have obtained excellent results, while all have added to their efficiency and teaching power.

There was on hand such a quantity of text books that I felt the best interests of the schools demanded a complete knowledge of the number of each kind on hand and their condition and then a wise distribution and use. Although I attempted a complete inventory at the end of last year, I found out later that several school buildings, not in use last spring term, had supplies of text books. However, there were more than enough books on my list to provide the schools, so I recommended no purchase of new text books with the exception of the adoption of new grammars in place of the old ones which were worn out. The supply of paper for arithmetic and other work done with the pencil was secured at a reduction of two cents a package from the ordinary prices by buying in bulk. By having quotations direct from the manufacturers I secured for you a reduction of twenty-five cents per gross on lead pencils. We also secured the additional ten per cent. discount on the new grammars by exchanging the old ones for these.

However, an economy that defeats its own ends is not beneficial. If the only question were to save money the people could do it most effectively by putting out none at all for schools. But the task that is demanded is an efficient economy. The money saved for the town by the superintendent in the purchase and administration of supplies, because of his opportunity and time for information on the subject, should be transferred from the appropriation for text books and supplies to that for the salaries of teachers, in order that we may have the best possible teachers consistent with our means. Hillsboro has been especially liberal in its appropriation for school supplies. I would urge a smaller appropriation for these and the addition of the one or two hundred dollars thus to be saved to the appropriation for schools, and available especially for paying higher salaries to teachers, thus assuring an even higher standard of instruction.

I wish to make it clear that this saving is the natural result that the town has a right to expect from employing one man to spend his time in looking after the schools. No credit is due the present superintendent and no criticism is implied upon the present or former school boards. The credit is due the system and is the result of a well known business principle. You have a right to expect more for the same money or the same for less money when one man recommends and handles supplies, than when several have it to do as a side issue to their regular work.

One permanent improvement that you have made to the equipment of the schools, but which will not be available until spring, should be mentioned. Blackboards with slate surfaces will be placed in several, if not all the schools. These will be framed so they can be readily put up or taken down by one man and transferred from any school building that has been closed to another one that has been opened. Thus efficiently and economically the blackboard question will be settled for a number of years, unless more schools are run each year than at present.

As to consolidation of schools, I desire to say one word. A full discussion would be too long for this report.

I believe your present excellent system of combining, where possible, should be continued. I think more importance will have to be given to the transportation side of the question and the present method of paying so many different individuals changed, wherever practicable, to that of providing one good team with proper driver for each section where the number will warrant it. To the community I would say that I am acquainted with and have sympathy with many of the objections raised to the closing of a school in their vicinity. I believe that every case has to be fully and wisely considered before such a step is taken. On the other hand I wish to urge that a schoolhouse with a teacher and pupils in it may be far from having any effect educationally. It may be a place where only idleness and loss of interest are engendered. Yes, even moral degeneracy may ensue. I unhesitatingly declare such pupils better off in a decent home, without any definite schooling, except the training to read and write. And such danger is the most imminent in the small school with crude outhouses whose walls blunt more or less deeply the sensitiveness of every boy or girl whose eyes fall upon them. With the larger school, better teaching and better surroundings are possible.

I have spoken of an economical and efficient management of supplies, of the possibility of securing more money thereby to pay teachers, and of the consolidation of schools as a help toward securing a strong teaching force. There is at present a bill before the legislature which, if passed, would give a further rebate by the State to this district of one-half to one-third of the amount now raised for supervision. The bill also contains a provision for payment by the State to districts coming under its terms the sum of three dollars per week for each teacher engaged who is a Normal School graduate or holds a State certificate. By a continuance of the present policy together with the economies recommended I believe it would be possible to have, with little extra expense, a trained teacher in each of our schools. I trust the district may be keenly alert to the opportunity thus promised and be ready to avail itself of all such means that the State may offer.

I very gladly record the cordial relations with you body, with the teachers and with those of the community whom I have had the opportunity to meet. These all have their influence in telling for good schools.

Respectfully submitted,

F. C. JOHNSON.

Report of the Board of Education.

The Board of Education presents herewith its report for the fiscal year ending Feb. 15, 1909, and the school year ending Aug. 31, 1908, together with reports from the superintendent of schools and reports to him. We urge your careful perusal of these reports, as they give a full resume of the school work with valuable recommendations.

As recommended at the last annual meeting, a Commercial course has been introduced in the High School, which has proved very successful, more pupils entering this course than was anticipated.

The changes in the High School involved the purchase of new desks and the laying of a large amount of new flooring. Most of the rooms need new floors, and it is advised that the principle be adopted of raising enough money each year to provide for one room, until all the rooms are furnished with new floors.

Attention is called to the item of tuition, which is much larger than for any year heretofore. As the standard of the school is raised, it is hoped that this amount may be still more increased.

Some improvements are needed in the basement, which will not entail great expense.

LEON E. ANNIS,
MARY A. CROSBY,
GEORGE W. HASLET,

Report of Superintendent of Schools.

Members of the Board of Education:

I present herewith my third annual report upon your schools.

The High School naturally takes an important place at present in the interests of the community because of the wish to induce a larger proportion of our pupils to enter and complete some one of the courses offered, and because it is playing a considerable part in the income derived from tuition pupils. There is good evidence that these objects are being accomplished. An increase of about fifty per cent. over previous years in its membership and a much larger proportion of the pupils coming back each year with the result that the present junior class—the first to have the benefit of our present courses from the beginning—is much larger than any we have had in recent years, is the material evidence of this fact. That the tuition funds for the fall term from high school pupils alone were almost $100 more than the annual income from all the schools three years ago shows the encouraging growth in this way. Moreover, we have now three graduates in college, one from the class of 1907 and two from the class of 1908, and are able to test the quality of our work. All three have secured high standing in their scholarship, and one, a graduate of last year's class, has secured first prize in the entering class of Brown University for excellence of preparation in mathematics. Another member of the class of 1908 plans to enter college the coming year and we will then be eligible for the College Certificate privileges.

For those not intending to go to higher institutions of learning and wishing a course that will enable them to be better prepared at the close of their school life for practical work, the Commercial Course was introduced this year. A good number have taken this, but there has been no general giving up of the others. Each course is well patronized and thus justifies its existence. And the Commercial Course has fully justified its introduction. I have in mind a plan by which some of the more practical features of the course will be open to those pupils from other courses not wishing to enter college. I hope to arrange this with the consent of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction so as to be available another year.

The steady progress of the school in industry and deportment for the past three years, together with the result in scholarship that I have mentioned, gives me justification for assuring the community that its desire to provide suitable training for the pupils of the High School is being gratified. Few communities of our size can excel us in variety of choice offered the pupil and no doubt can now be entertained as to our standard of scholarship.

To support this standard of scholarship demands not only well-fitted pupils from the grades but also the best energies of the pupils themselves during their four years of school life. I am fully aware that the pupil who is doing satisfactory work in our High School is displaying an industry and perseverance second only to the more industrious of our wage earners or business and professional men, and superior to many others. And I would need no further proof of the quality of the work an applicant would give to an employer than the school record. Business men are aware of this and call for the school record of an applicant quite often. That the work is not too exacting is shown by the fact that pupils of only moderate ability, inferior preparation, and ordinary physical vigor are doing the work creditably. But, as I have said before, it needs the best energies. So I urge upon parents that they must send the children to school properly prepared mentally and physically. A large amount of sleep is necessary for the youthful brain and this must be secured regularly. Proper food must be eaten or poor nutrition ensues. There is danger that the pupils from the best homes may suffer from actual starving of the system because of too great indulgence in confectionery and pastry. For the proper nervous condition to be kept, in spite of the strain demanded by the school, there is need that the nervous energy be maintained and spent only in legitimate ways.

But in asking this we are only asking what the business and professional life demands, and if anyone fears for this result of the vigorous life thus demanded a sufficient answer is furnished by the citizens in any community. Are the physically strong always to be found among the loafers? The men and women of physical vigor and endurance are those who have regular occupation. But there is no doubt that many pupils in the schools of our country are breaking down. If I am to judge by my own experience, those who cannot accomplish the work of the school are almost universally cigarette or tobacco smokers, frequenters of places of amusement that demand their time and energies, or it may be are not of the average physical vigor through no fault of their own. I realize too that the school has a large problem to do its share in preserving the physical energies from injury or waste. Consequently we are keeping a sharp watch for anything of this kind in the schoolroom. With the co-operation of the parents much can be done to prevent this waste of energy and consequent impairment of school work. As a suggestion along this line I advise an even greater and more universal use of the custom that now exists of having social events, such as dances and parties that may properly come in the social life of the boys and girls, occur on Friday evenings only, or at a time when school work will not be required the following day. I also urge that the pupils of grades eight and nine and of the High School be provided as well as can be with opportunities and equipment for evening study of from one to not more than two and one-half or three hours and be trained to attend to this regularly and punctually. With this co-operation and the further assistance of the parent in securing a proper respect for the reasonable requirements of school discipline, we shall see a larger body of graduates from our schools not only mentally trained, but fitted by physical vigor and respect for proper authority, to take their places in the various activities of life.

The present teaching corps in the High School consists of a Principal and three assistants. This increase was made necessary by the ordinary development of the three courses previously offered and by the introduction of the Commercial Course. The latter is under the guidance of a teacher with two years' university work and a normal business training and experience in preparation for her work. As all of her time is not demanded this year by this course, she instructs the four upper grades in writing and also has classes in arithmetic and history. The other three teachers give their time exclusively to High School instruction. The result is that we are enabled to put most of the departments under those teachers whose special training and experience has best fitted them for these. In the grades three new teachers, each with Normal School training, were engaged—two in place of the two regular grade teachers, Mrs. Emma E. Shoults and Miss Cora I. McKellips, who resigned to accept other positions—and one to replace Miss Ethel F. Swan, teacher of the ninth grade and assistant in the high school. We have now a larger number of trained teachers than ever before in the grades. We will thus be eligible for a considerable sum of State aid should the bill now pending before the Legislature be passed. This bill grants three dollars per week for each Normal trained teacher in service.

We now have the eighth and ninth grades in the same room and a considerable part of the former will be ready for High School in June. The trial last year of permitting those who had the best rank in the eighth grade to try the examinations for High School resulted in the entrance of five. We are thus solving in a natural way the problem of what to do with those of the eighth grade whose work is so far advanced that they do not need another year's training for High School.

The question of room in our school building is becoming a very pressing one. The removal of the High School to the third story made possible the accommodation of the increase in numbers for this year. At the average rate of growth promised for the next two years I think the limit of our accommodation will be reached at that time. We shall then be driven to the expediency of still further action of a temporary nature unless some other action is taken in time. It is necessary for the community to face this question squarely and to be ready to adopt measures that will best secure efficiency and economy in a very few years at the most.

I called attention in my last report to the need of providing for an increased salary list. This was done with the result that we are now more nearly up to the desired standard. All of the teachers are receiving an advance on former wages. The economy of this step has been shown in the fact that there has been no change in our teaching force thus far during the school year. This is a condition that has not existed before since my work began here. I feel that we are well reimbursed.

An average of the ages in each grade shows that we are now well up to the front in this respect. It is desirable that pupils be given their training in the ordinary time that the classes may not be overloaded by those who fail to pass. Moreover a better interest is given to the work when pupils are progressing normally.

I want in closing to express my appreciation of the spirit of harmony and co-operation that exists among the teachers and has contributed much to the success of the present year. I am deeply sensible, too, of the willingness evinced to co-operate with me in any suggestion made.

To the members of your Board I give special credit for the interest you have taken and the work done so ungrudgingly that has relieved me of many details which you could better attend to than I. This report would not be complete did it not place on record my acknowledgement of the almost universal willingness with which the pupils have adjusted themselves to the inevitable changes that have occurred year by year as the school has been coming upward to a higher standard of achievement and of deportment. That such has been the case is the best testimony to the spirit of the community, which has not only taken a forward step for its schools in the midst of business depression but has, by its mutual interest in the work, imparted its own respect for the schools to the children, and made better results possible.

Respectfully submitted,

F. C. JOHNSON.

Report of Principal.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Of the thirty-one pupils that were in attendance in the High School at the close of the spring term, four graduated, and twenty-five returned to school in the fall. Four others, former members, returned, and one new pupil entered the Senior class. Of the twenty-one graduates from the ninth grade, nineteen entered the Freshman class. The enrollment of the school in the fall term was sixty-one, of whom twenty were tuition pupils. The average membership for the term was 59.4, the per cent. of attendance, 97.5,—a very good showing, especially if we consider the distance many of the pupils come.

The enrollment by classes is as follows:— Seniors, four; Juniors, including three special students, eleven; Sophomores, fifteen; Freshmen, thirty-one.

The commercial course was elected by five Juniors, nine Sophomores, and fifteen Freshmen. This unexpectedly large number has caused some crowding and other inconvenience in the commercial department. The room intended for fifteen could not accommodate all, and for some time various transfers of classes to and from the main room were made necessary.

The commercial course will prove a valuable addition to the High School courses, as it affords advantages to pupils who may be unable to obtain them elsewhere, and it will tend to keep in school some pupils who are not especially interested in the other courses.

While I realize that the present accommodations for the High School are about all that the limitations of the building will permit, I would suggest that the present quarters should not be considered permanent. The small recitation room, which is merely the upper landing in a hallway, is unsuitable for several reasons. The main room is not properly lighted and cannot be uniformly heated. The commercial department needs a room that is larger and nearer the main room. A room especially for type-writing will be needed soon.

As soon as the condition of the school funds will permit, a number of reference books should be obtained for the school. At present, there are very few, and the work of several of the departments is much restricted for this reason.

As a number of our pupils intend to enter higher institutions, it seems desirable that the examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board should be given here in June. Application for this privilege has been made to the Secretary of the Board, and a favorable reply has been received.

It now seems probable that within a year or two arrangements may be made with the New England College Entrance Certificate Board by which graduates of the school, with sufficiently good record in scholarship, may be admitted to college or scientific school, on the certificate of the Principal, without entrance examinations.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the Committee for their constant support, the Superintendent for his very helpful advice and suggestions, and the teachers in all departments in the school building for their cordial co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE F. MURDOCK,

Principal.

Report of Supervisor of Music.

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Music in the schools of Hillsboro is progressing. It has not yet reached the mark I feel sure it can and will, but it is started in the right direction. The High School shows improvement in reading and in tone quality. All the grades are making progress in ability to read music.

We have always expressed our deepest feelings and emotions by means of music. Thus the real aim of music in the schools is the singing of songs. But to be able to sing songs the pupil must be able to read music accurately. The interest in the school work and the courtesy shown by the townspeople, as well as by all connected with the schools, is making my work in Hillsboro very pleasant.

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN D. DAGGETT,
Supervisor of Music.

Report of Supervisor of Drawing.

Superintendent F. C. Johnson:

I submit the following report of drawing for Hillsboro schools:

The work in drawing this year has been a following out of the plan given in last year's report. During the fall term the drawing of flowers and leaves was taken in connection with nature study, and color harmony was reviewed. This winter term the higher grades have had object drawing involving perspective. The younger grades have had the same sort of work only more elementary. In the spring term the work will be the painting and drawing of spring growths with the nature work. The birthdays of noted men, as Lincoln and Washington, have been observed in connection with the drawing, thus correlating drawing and history.

The High School was so large at the beginning of the year that it seemed better to divide it into two classes for the drawing those wishing mechanical work having their lesson one week, and the appearance class having theirs the next. The plan works well. The mechanical class has had elementary working drawings and the other class object drawing, including perspective more in detail than the lower grades.

The children have seemed more interested in the work this year than last and some very good work has been done. It needs the interest of both the teachers and the pupils to make the work a success. I wish to thank all for their helpfulness in this.

SADIE M. REED,
Supervisor of Drawing.
